

I recently transferred 4 lines from Tmobile to ATTWS and have just received my first bill. I am shocked to find that the regulatory fees are vastly different with AT&T charging a whopping $1.75 per line per month versus $0.86 per line (an unanticipated increase of almost $1 or over $42 per year for 4 lines).

At no time during the sale was I made aware of this fee. I had assumed that the words 'regulatory fee' meant that it was a uniform government imposed charge.

I would request that ALL fees are made part of the advertised per line monthly charge so that carrier costs can be compared directly.

This deception caused me to switch to AT&T when if I had been aware of the real monthly charges, I may have chosen a different provider of service, rather than be locked into a new contract with billing surprises. Bait and switch of the worst kind!
